महिला सशक्तीकरण आवश्यक हैं

आज हमारे महाविद्यालय मे महिला सशक्तिकरण इस विषय पर आयोजित राष्ट्रीय परिषद के उद्घाटन समारोह के अवसर पर बहुत खुशी हो रही है।

इस अवसर पर सब से पहले मैं इस राष्ट्रीय परिषद को आयोजित कर रही आयोजन समिती एवं उपस्थित सभी को बधाई देती हूं। आज हम सब यहाँ वर्तमान स्थिती में महिला सशक्तिकरण की संभावनाओं के महत्वपूर्ण मुद्दे पर बात करने के लिए इकट्ठा हुए हैं।

इस समारोह के अध्यक्ष के नाते मैं यह इच्छा करती हूं की यह राष्ट्रीय परिषद एक खुली और रचनात्मक बातचीत के स्वरूप मे एक अच्छा कदम साबित हो । मुझे विश्वास है की यह राष्ट्रीय परिषद महिला सशक्तिकरण सफल बनाने हेतु आने वाली सभी समस्याओं को हल करने मे सफल हो सकती है।

मुझे बताते हुए खुशी हो रही है की 21वीं सदी की महिलाएं हमारे देश की आधी शक्ति है और पुरुषों के साथ कदम से कदम मिलाकर चलने से देश की पूरी शक्ति बन सकती है । एक दिन जब देश की पूरी शक्ति काम करना शुरू कर देगी तो कोई भी अन्य देश भारत से अधिक शक्तिशाली नहीं होगा।

मुझे उम्मीद है की यह राष्ट्रीय परिषद महिला सशक्तीकरण से जुडी विभिन्न समस्याओं का समाधान करने में मददगार हो सकती है । मैं इस संस्था की अध्यक्ष के नाते इस संमेलन के आयोजन को सफल बनाने के लिए अपने महाविद्यालय के सभी पाठकों द्वारा किये गये प्रयासों की सराहना करती हूं।

FROM THE IQAC'S DESK

In the history of human development, woman has been as important as man. In fact, the status, employment, and work performed by women in society is the indicator of a nation's overall progress. Without the participation of women in national activities, the social, economic, or political progress of a country will be stagnated. Women constitute half of the humanity. But she earns only one-third of the total income and owns less than one-tenth of the world's resources. This shows that the economic status of women is in pathetic condition and this is more so in a country like India. Empowerment of women may be taken as a means of strengthening women's position in the socio-political power structure of the society. But empowerment in this sense cannot be achieved without strengthening women's position in the existing economic system. This means the need of creating both more socio-economic opportunities and capacities for women in the society. This would enable women to play decisive roles in the family and society equally with their male counterparts, so that question of oppressions, discriminations, injustice, deprivation, and degradation for women as a group would turn to be totally irrelevant.

The source of empowerment should not remain confined to the domain of government machinery alone. Empowerment will remain a distant dream unless the government programmes on empowerments are combined with a change in the social attitude and a re-reading of women's position. Self-confidence and self-reliance are essential conditions for empowerment, which no super-imposed programs can inculcate in them. In the realization of this inner strength, lies actual empowerment.

Although with changing times and scenarios the contribution of women in progress and other economic activities is said to be on the rise but development activities have benefited only a little segment of the women. The rural women consisting most of the female population in India are still uneducated about the ongoing events. Encouraging them to be a part of this inner, empowering change is essential. As said above without the realisation of self-worth in women themselves, the government or any social community cannot bring the desired change in the low social status of women. In the times of globalization, many efficient and entrepreneurial women have attained great heights. But despite being skilled and having proper framework some women cannot follow their dreams and passions because of the lack of resources and attentive guidance. Providing these facilities should be one of the aims of the government and communities in India.

Domestic violence, female feticide, rape, molestation, eve teasing, unequal wages, gender inequality, dowry, disparity in education, child marriage, inadequate nutrition and many such misfortunes are bound for women unless united actions are taken supporting women empowerment. The participation of women in various pro women empowerment activities will generate self-respect, self-confidence, self-discipline, and self-sufficiency in them. Through this conference we hope the participant and stakeholders will comprehend the concept of women empowerment in the context of modern India and help in creating a positive change.
